

OLIVIA ANDREWS

I am a fundraiser, public speaker, and facilitator focused on the intersection of racial justice, decolonisation, and philanthropy. Having raised over £3m within my career, I support racial justice organisations with resourcing their movements and fundraising teams to adopt anti-racist and decolonial practices to their work.

SERVICES I OFFER

FUNDRAISING CONSULTANCY, DONE DIFFERENTLY

I work with racial justice organisations to not simply be donor led but build meaningful connections with donors and supporters rooted in community rather than hierarchy.

I can support with:

- Prospect research and pipeline building
- Relationship management and strengthening with existing donors
- Grant writing and donor communications
- Long-term fundraising strategy development

"Olivia takes time to research, explore analyse - she definitely isn't someone to turn up unprepared. If you are interested in a thoughtful speaker who is committed to building a more anti-racist fundraising practice, Olivia is for you!"
~ Martha Awojobi, consultant & creator of Uncharitable Political Education

PUBLIC SPEAKING & SESSION FACILITATION

"White supremacy culture is a sensitive topic. I've never heard anyone speak about it in such a safe, warm, knowledgeable way as Olivia Andrews."
~ Sabina Basi, Funding Director of ActionAidUK

I also deliver talks and sessions to fundraisers who are seeking to adopt a more anti-racist approach in their work, rooted in the practice of antidotes to White Supremacy Culture.

Past sessions have covered:

- Decolonising fundraising in international development: unlearning White supremacy culture
- Can fundraising ever be anti-racist?
- How can fundraising evolve to be truly transformative?
- Monitoring and evaluation for anti-racist fundraisers
